$2,000 Paid for Goldsmith Poem at Wallace Sale

Total for Library Now
Amounts to $71,744—Other Prices.

When the Princess Dowager of Wales died in February, 1772, a poem of lamentation in the August style, by a gentleman of acknowledged literary merit, was recited and sung with appropriate music in the fashionable rooms of Mrs. Cornely, in Soho Square. The poem was printed, but has become very rare. In fact, there are supposed to be but two copies now in existence, and one of them was sold last night in the sale of the Wallace Library at the American Art Association for $2,000 to the Rosenbach Company.

Possibly this respectable sum was paid not so much for the uplifting quality of the lamentation as for the now uplifting power of the fame of the composer, who was none other than Dr. Samuel Johnson's friend, Oliver Goldsmith. Oliver, it seems, was uneasy over the presentation of this lament and engaged Cradock to assist him with it.

ALBANY LIKELY TO KILL WOMEN'S BILLS

Minimum Wage and Eight Hour Day Measures Appear to Be Doomed.

Special to The Sun and New York Herald.
ALBANY, March 23.—Much ill feeling cropped out today among women's organizations opposing and favoring the bills for a minimum wage and an eight hour day for women at the hearing before the Senate and Assembly committees on labor and industry. The general belief here is that both these measures are dead.

Gov. Smith is fighting hard to force the Republicans to support the bills, having made several speeches in up-State cities. The Governor, however, failed to make any comment today on the bills presented to him by the League of Women Voters that the lobby maintained by Mark A. Daly of the Associated Industries, in conjunction with Speaker Sweet and the Lusk committee, have been stilling public support of these welfare measures.

Mr. Daly at the hearing today declared he has conducted an open lobby study to prove the case. He read a statement of the League of Women Voters "maliciously untrue."

Mrs. Frank A. Vanderbilt, president of the New York State League of Women Voters, and Mrs. John G. Crandall, of Cranford, N. J., who attended the hearing, issued a statement inviting the Legislature to investigate the entire subject.

"Other important revelations will be presented by the league at any time the Legislature chooses to go into the matter," Mrs. Vanderbilt said.

Answering Senator Lusk's statement that the accusations were "all bunk," Mrs. Vanderbilt said the league was ready to prove the case. She pointed out that either Senator Davenport or Senator Thompson may demand a legislative investigation.

At the hearing were 200 women, representing various organizations that have endorsed the minimum wage and eight hour day bills. Opposing them was a group of women, organized into the League of Equal Opportunity, who considered the bills a threat to the detriment of working women.

Organized labor leaders favored the measures, and their speeches resulted in a sharp rebuff from Nolan, who was leading the New York State League of Women Voters, who was leading the opposition.

"It is a lie," shouted Mr. Nolan. The committee chairman rapped his gavel for order, however, and there was no further disturbance.
